CAPTURE OF DAMASI. It Puts the Greeks in a Particularly ins Turkish troops in Estrange and the most serious disadvantage. The strategic value of Prevens no the Turk is a serious disadvantage. The strategic value of Prevens no the Turk is that so long as it remains in the hands of the Turks it makes possible a steady line of munitions and food supplies. With Prevens in the hands of the Greeks this line would be promptly can and it would be promptly for a constally in the further to cross the free services of the foreign the long land round the prompt with the foreign could be re-victualed by the long land round through Macedonia. On the other hand, the Greek troops could be re-victualed by sea.

It is stated here in mell-informed circles that the sustern squaoron of the G. sk neet, which will shortly be re-inforced by the froncist Spelma, is planting an important movement. This is probably of seried against Schulea. If this is adopted with dispatch it is quite possible that the Greek ships will reach the guif and shell the town of Salonica before the Aceyan squadron of the Turkish fiest could interfere. The object of such a bembardment would be it out off the Maccedonian line-of supplies to Ethiem Pasha's camp at Hassona. Should the Greek troops advance from Damas to Elassona the line of Tarkish supplies could be cut at that point and vender the navai action amnecessary.
